Compact and dependable, the M C240FW is the professional choice for home offices

Working from home (WFH) has become a new normal for many employees. One of the challenges facing employers is how to provide WFH tools that meet business requirements without negatively impacting home life. The M C240FW from Ricoh — which is cost effective, easy to support and professional — is the perfect solution.

Requiring minimal space, the RICOH M C240FW is a welcome addition to any home office. Offering WiFi and mobile connectivity, it is easy to set up and operate. Its extensive functionality includes color and black-and-white printing, copying and scanning, plus black-and-white faxing — so remote employees have the same capabilities they are accustomed to in the office. A WiFi wizard allows for quick and easy device setup. Factor in a low price and running costs, and it is easy to see why the RICOH M C240FW is a business essential.

- Compact and lightweight, the RICOH M C240FW is a perfect fit for home office environments.

- The multifunction printer extends professional print, copy, scan and fax functionality to the home.

- Set up is simple, and with its color touchscreen operation panel, the RICOH M C240FW is easy to operate.

- High yield all-in-one print cartridges reduce costs and are easy to replace.

- With standard WiFi and mobile printing, this device can be set up just about anywhere it's needed.

Dependable and easy to use, the RICOH M C240FW is a cost-effective business solution for all remote working environments.
